River Monsters

The show River Monsters is about Jeremy Wade as he travels around the world catching man-eating fish in freshwater lakes, rivers, canals. In these episodes, Jeremy Wade reads newspaper articles or old myths and tracks down the fish behind the stories. When asked by the author of geek magazine, Jeremy says that his show is in the format of a detective show. First, he finds a crime. Next, he tracks down eyewitnesses and creates a suspect list. When he finally finds the right fish, he catches it. But wait, now he's letting it go back where it was!

That's right! He has a strict catch and release policy! Except for the Goliath Tiger fish which died in his arms and fed two whole communities with food to spare!
